

CLC Priorities

Lay Leadership & Spiritual Formation
Peace, Justice & Reconciliation Care for all Creation

We recognise the emerging role and vocation of the laity (especially women) in the Church and the wider world in all its diversity. We will contribute to lay leadership and spiritual formation in the wider community. We will continue to offer formation experiences and programs that will enable participants to find meaning and direction in their lives through developing a deeper relationship with God and all of creation. We wish especially to introduce younger people to Ignatian Spirituality and to create spaces for their voices to be heard.

We recognise the continuing need to work individually, communally and with others for peace, justice and reconciliation. We commit to walking with First Nations People in their pursuit of justice and reconciliation. This includes developing relationships with local Indigenous communities. We will also support those who are poor and/or marginalised and victims of abuse and violence in our society.

We recognise the environmental crisis and the social teaching of the Church about caring for our common home. We commit, individually and communally, to caring for all of creation. We wish for this commitment to permeate our organization at all levels including raising awareness, collaboration with other organisations and promoting a simple lifestyle.

CLC

CLC is an International Organisation in 60 countries.

with approximately 30,000 members,

We meet regularly in small groups to help each other know and follow Christ both personally and collectively in ordinary daily living.

who are we

Members often have rich, busy lives and appreciate the regular opportunity to stop, reflect and prayerfully share with like-minded people the deeper currents running under their lives.

Telling your own story and listening is important in growing a relationship with God.

Members' practical involvement in many different areas such as refugee support, 'Young People in Nursing Homes', environmental issues, family and community activities are all enriched by CLC involvement.

CLC

enables us to commit ourselves

- to bring the freeing power of Christ to our social reality.
- to find Christ in all our varied cultures and to let His grace illuminate all that needs transformation.
- to live Christ so as to bring Him to every aspect of our daily life in the world.
